I use to belong to his FB page, but he was so rude and derogatory to others on the page, that I blocked him. So sorry I purchased this for my kindle, but it is easy to delete the book!1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Atypical EPIC Information AboundsBy R. L. GilliardI'm now a Dave fan, I admit it! I've been reading book after book about cruising since booking my cruise over a year ago. I thought I'd read just about all there was to read about Norwegian Cruise Line's Epic, but I was wrong. Dave's writing style infuses entertainment and information in such a way as to make reading a breeze, and the information is just great! Thanks Dave!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Like talking to a friendBy D. SearcyI very much enjoyed reading this and did not want the book to come to an end! I like how it felt like you were getting feedback from a friend. I'll be cruising on one of the ships that was reviewed in the book and even though I haven't stepped foot on the ship yet, I feel like I already know all about it.

A compilation of live blog posts from cruise ships, including the MSC Lirica, Carnival Elation and Splendor, Golden Princess, Norwegian Star, Pearl, EPIC and Breakaway.

About the AuthorI grew up in California and Puerto Rico. My non-cruise travel has taken me to the Caribbean, South America, Canada, Mexico, Taiwan, Japan, England, Scotland and Wales. From 2000 to 2004 I was a traveling salesman, and worked in 47 States in four years, so I know a little bit about hotels. I took my first Cruise in 1981 on the Tropicale, and dozens since then. A lot of my travel (including that 1981 cruise)has been with my brother, Steve, who has been in a wheelchair since 1979, so I am acutely aware of the challenges disabled travelers and their companions face. When not traveling, I dabble in local politics, social media and online publishing. And since 2001 I have been the owner of a Travel Agency.
