Too Generalized ~ For Tourists OnlyBy AdvocatiumThe Los Angeles map by National Geographic is a very clear and tough waterproof paper map but it is mislabeled. I need a street map of L.A., all of L.A., so I can find the house locations of several friends in L.A. for when I visit-- these areas include Granada Hills, Northridge, Van Nuys, and Santa Clara. These are in the north area of L.A. and these and other areas are ignored completely. While this is an attractive map that covers only the tourist central areas of L.A. There is a "regional map" of all of L.A. on the flip side but it is far too small for use except for freeway locations. Only buy this map if you are a visiting tourist and only interested in an over-generalized, simplified map of the central, central west and south regions of L.A.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Very good!By Simon CopeReally useful to help with planning our trip. Look forward to pouring over it in the motel on site and then using it as one of our navigation tools!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. I am really disappointed. I hope they make a new complete version ...By MonabeeThis map does not include the San Fernando Valley and north of Los Angeles county !!! The whole freeway 118 and a big part of freeway 210 are not there at all !! If you are from Los Angeles you know how incomplete this map is ! I am really disappointed. I hope they make a new complete version of this map because the print is good.
