my child to Disney a few times a year and I think that this book provides lots of fun ideas and ways to really have a great time at the park. It is really easy to read and it has fun "missions" of things that you will really want to do "with" your child while you are there. Sometimes I find myself just going through the motions while I am there with my child but this book gave me lots of ideas about how to be involved and make it a fun experience for me, too. The author also provides some neat insights about other local places near Disney to check out. I appreciate this because sometimes eating in the park the whole time gets really old, really fast. FYI, I think that the missions are totally applicable to a daughter/niece/etc. as well. This book is a good purchase for the Disneyland newbie and the seasoned Annual Pass folks and pretty much everyone in-between. There's something in it for everyone. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By Richard Cox Loved it! 6 of 6 people found the following review helpful. This is a magical book! By Miss Diane I absolutely loved this book! While it contains a ton of valuable insider information about what to watch for and do in the park, along with well-thought-out tips to maximize your experience, this book is so much more than that. A major focus is on how to use the time together to grow closer as a family, all the while teaching your child valuable lessons in a magical environment. Randle's conversational style makes this book easy to read, and the inserts by his son, Derek, are a true highlight. A must-read for families who want to make the Disneyland experience even more magical. Highly recommended!

Bryce and Derek are a father and son team that have written this handbook to help you create a magical time at the Disneyland Resort. With 12 missions that make up the book, you will know where to go, how to get there and when you should do it.
