Oregon's eastern desolate areas. Not much has changed or will change much since this book was first written. I have explored some of the areas so far and plan to take many more trips with my life partner. Camp in the outback and pitch a tent. 9 of 9 people found the following review helpful. Oregon's Outback By Mike R. Vining This guidebook provides the road traveler with a wealth of information for a very unique area of Oregon, its southeastern area. Six tours are offered in the guidebook; Hart Mountain, Steens Mountain Loop, Malheur National Wildlife Refuge, Jordan Valley Area, Alvord Desert Loop, and Sheldon National Wildlife Refuge. When I think of Oregon, I think of the coast and the wet climate. Oregon's southeast is a drier climate and most of the tour areas described in the book are located inside of the Great Basin. The book has route maps, detailed mileage markers, offers side trips information and hiking suggestions. Whether you are looking for hot springs, scenic vistas, historical sites, quaint towns and animal and plant life, I think you should pick up a copy of the guidebook, get in your motor vehicle, and check out this ecologically diverse side of Oregon.

Oregon's southeast corner offers a whole new world with its beautiful desert splendor. The author shares her love for this intriguing section of Oregon. Through interesting text and exquisite black and white photography, she showcases this lovely area. Also provided are detailed directions for auto tours of the area, giving you the freedom to explore this region on your own. Southeast Oregon holds an allure for many people. 6 x 9 format
